"According to Steve Brown, Bible teacher for Key Life Network and a professor of preaching, 'If you get one good illustration out of an illustration book, it's worth every dime you paid for it. If we don't illustrate, we ought not to teach.'... Since 1982 Leadership Journal has helped pastors follow this advice with 'To Illustrate,' a column that has become one of the most widely read portions of the magazine...Brian Larson compiled the best illustrations from a decade of columns into one book...over $1300 in preaching and teaching assistance" -- BOOK JACKET.

A vast resource of forceful preaching and speaking quotations and stories arranged alphabetically under 50 categories, each with 20 scriptural illustrations.

Need to find an insightful illustration but don't know where to look? Often the best and richest illustrations are those that come from God's Word. Charles E. Little's classic reference has been a valuable tool for generations of speakers, writers and preachers. Over 30,000 entries" including Scripture texts, illustrations and cross-references" have been assembled under almost 1,800 topical headings, providing a tremendous range of choices, from important theological themes to intriguing connections between the Bible and life. "10,000 Topical Illustrations from the Bible" offers four reference features in one volume: - Illustrations" Biblical facts, incidents, and statements that touch every phase of life. - Quotations" Scriptural quotes that are sufficiently complete in the text to eliminate the need for follow-up reference. - Topical Studies" Thousands of references and cross-references that provide a remarkable collection of alphabetically-arranged subject entries. A Scripture index also keys texts to their subject categories. - A Practical Concordance" The entries cite references containing a specific word and locate others that may relate to it.
