Egypt is one of Africa ’ s industrial heavyweights. Transforming the country's economy to sustain job-rich and sustainable growth are pivotal steps in its march towards prosperity. Today ’ s search for new development models, accelerated by the unfolding of the COVID-19 pandemic, calls for shifting up a gear in raising Egypt ’ s industrial capabilities to compete in an industry 4.0 and agro 4.0 landscape. The Production Transformation Policy Review (PTPR) of Egypt uses a forward-looking framework to assess the country's readiness to embrace change. This includes an analysis of the game-changing potential of the African Continental Free Trade Area (AfCFTA) and perspectives on agro-food and electronics (i.e. what in Egypt is referred to as part of the engineering sector), as well as identifying priorities for future reforms. This review is the result of government-business dialogue, and benefited from peer learning from Italy and Malaysia. It also resulted from international and multi-stakeholder knowledge sharing through a dedicated Peer Learning Group (PLG) and the OECD Initiative for Policy Dialogue on Global Value Chains, Production Transformation and Development.

Entomophagy - eating insects - is hardly a new phenomenon. We've eaten bugs for centuries, and many countries around the world continue to enjoy them in modern cuisine. But insect eating is currently experiencing a rise in popularity. Restaurants are dishing up insects, the UN is publishing reports on the merits of insect-heavy diets and the Nordic Food Lab is exploring how delicious insects can be. The media is now talking about the ethics, the eco benefits and the economic sense behind incorporating entomophagy into our lives. This book by the founders of Grub - a company which sells and promotes edible insects - features 55 accessible recipes using a variety of bugs, from grasshoppers to mealworms. It takes its inspiration from cuisines around the world to present a range of small plates, meals, desserts and even cocktails using whole and ground insects. It explores where edible insects come from, how they're farmed and how to grill, puree, grind and bake them.

The title 'Commercial Maritime Law' is a misnomer. There is a patchwork of different commercial maritime laws around the world. However, the title is a true reflection of what many legal scholars and practitioners in the field have long desired: a common framework of commercial maritime law. This book unravels the complexities of bridging the gap between common law and civil law and will discuss whether the title will remain a misnomer despite the countless attempts at harmonisation. Internationally renowned legal scholars and practitioners discuss herein the areas in which the common law and civil law are divided; the impact of these differences on the drafting and ratification of international conventions; the search for a common framework; and the procedural aspects of the common law and civil law divide

The various industries in the IT sectors have started to pay attention to achieve an advanced level of diversification, which points to the fact that a single giant program can be developed through the means of mini-programs that have been developed by different geographically located programmers that too via an online medium. In the present scenario, such a language and programming environment has come to exist seemingly. Java is a type of Internet programming language which has made it possible to access the entire world from any corner around the globe. Java has been designed and developed by James Gosling and his team consisting of members, namely Mike Sheridan and Patrick Naughton, collectively known as the Green Team in 1995 for the company Sun Microsystems. This programming language was based on C and C++ language syntax, which made it easy for programmers to learn this language. Java is a highly sophisticated programming language that aids the programmers in expressing their complex ideas quickly. Many types of programming languages are available like C,

As a corpus-based study which aims at profiling the food culture of medieval Cairo, the book is an attempt to reconstruct the menu of Cairenes as well as their various daily practices, customs and habits related to food and eating.

A wonderful, mouth-watering collection of recipes from the Black Farmer who is famed for his award-winning sausages and meat. He certainly brings us flavours without frontiers as exemplified by Sweet and Spicy Lamb Meatballs; Cajun Blackened Chicken; Star Anise Pork Belly, Venison Fillet with Pine Nut Stuffing and Cassis Sauce; Red Snapper Ceviche and Wild Boar Pie . Wilfred feels there is so much more to meat than just chops and he wants to persuade cooks to widen their horizons with lesser known but equally delicious cuts of meat. Alongside the recipes are fascinating tales from Wilfred's extraordinary and inspirational life from impoverished background to squaddie, chef, producer of BBC Good Food and finally farmer and politician.
