Amid the lush abundance of Java's landscape, two boys spend their days exploring the vast lakes and teeming forests. But as time passes the boys come to realize that their shared sense of adventure cannot bridge the gulf between their backgrounds, for one is the son of a Dutch plantation owner, and the other the son of a servant. Inevitably, as they grow up, they grow estranged and it is not until years later that they meet again. It will be an explosive and emblematic meeting that marks them even more deeply than their childhood friendship did.

In this novel, set in the 15th century during the Hundred Years War between France and England, Hella Haasse brilliantly captures all the drama of one of the great ages of history.

Although he bears one of the most notorious names in all of Italy, Giovanni Borgia doesn't know his parentage. Hella Haasse uses the Italian Wars as a backdrop for Giovanni's agonizing quest for his identity. Set against the backdrop of the Italian wars, this novel seeks to unravel the puzzle of Giovanni Borgia's true identity. Machiavelli, Vittoria Colonna, Michelangelo, the Borgias and the Medici are some of the characters who inhabit the secretive and dangerous world of sixteenth century Rome.

In this vivid, dynamic novel, Hella Haasse has once more brought the past to life. This time she has chosen to illuminate a crucial, yet relatively obscure period of history: it is 414 A.D. and the once-powerful Roman Empire is in its death throes—split between East and West, menaced by barbarian hordes almost literally at its gates. The Emperor Honorius, an incompetent weakling, cowers in the marsh-bound city of Ravenna, where he has moved the government; he rarely "makes entry" into Rome. This is the brilliant canvas against which the characters in this drama interact. There is the Prefect Hadrian, a powerful official and fanatical Christian convert; there is Marcus Anicius, the pagan aristocrat who is clinging to a dying past, and there is the Jew Eliezar be Elijah, hemmed in by his own traditions and burdened by his dark vision of the future. There is the intrigue and uncertainty of life at Honorius's court, and there are the streets and tenements of Rome, pulsating with life and with corruption.

Rudolf leaves his comfortable origins in Delft by ship for Java to help run the family's estates there. He moves from plantation to plantation, attempting to understand the ways of the local peoples, their version of Islam and their relationship to their land. On a visit to the capital, Jakarta, he falls in love with a teenage girl, Jenny, who he courts surreptitiously via his sister, with grave consequences for the reality of their relationships. Eventually they marry, and make a hard colonist-couple's life theirs, bear, lose and raise children, before Jenny on her visit to the home country discovers all the comforts of which she has been deprived in Java. Back at the plantation homestead, as the back-breaking work of establishing and maintaining business takes its toll on Rudolf, Jenny becomes estranged from him, and the bitter resentments of relatives eat at her until a terrible solution is achieved.

Het oeuvre van Hella S. Haasse (1918-2011) is groots, omvangrijk en enorm gevarieerd. Maar wie kent de essays van Haasse over de schrijvende vrouw? Waarom schreef ze zo vaak over ontheemding? Wat bedoelde ze als ze het over haar â daimoonâ had? Waarom zijn veel huwelijken in Haasses romans en verhalen problematisch? Margot Dijkgraaf maakte in 1989 kennis met de schrijfster en voerde de laatste tien jaar van Haasses leven regelmatig gesprekken met haar over haar werk. In Spiegelbeeld en schaduwspel bespreekt ze Haasses belangrijkste thema's en laat ze de schrijfster zelf aan het woord. Het boek is daarmee niet alleen een rijk overzicht van een monumentaal oeuvre, maar ook een persoonlijk portret van een van de grootste auteurs uit de Nederlandstalige literatuur.

Hella S. Haasse, one of Holland's most popular contemporary authors, was born in the Dutch East Indies in 1918. The influence of her early years in this region, where she left behind unforgettable memories, is clearly reflected in her writing. The stories in this collection, translated into English for the first time, contain outstanding descriptions of the Indonesian landscape and evoke remarkable images of a fascinating country and its people. 'Forever a Stranger', from which this collection takes its name, is of special significance to Mrs Haasse. Ostensibly a story about a Dutch boy and his Indonesian friend whose childhood bond was increasingly undermined by race and class differences and ultimately destroyed by the Indonesian revolution, at a more fundamental level represents Mrs Haasse's attempt to come to terms with the realization that she had 'never been anything more than a foreigner' in the country she had so naturally loved as a child. The other two stories - 'Lidah Boeaja' (Crocodile's Tongue) and 'An Affair (Egbert's Story)' - were first published in Mrs Haasse's autobiographical volume entitled Een Handvol Achergrond (A Handful of Ground). Both excellent stories with interesting characters and suspenseful plots, they show clearly Mrs Haasse's sensitivity to impressions absorbed into her memory and imagination during her childhood and youth in the Indies.
