Together, these authors have more first-hand experience in leadership development and succession planning than you’re likely to find anywhere else. And here, they show companies how to create a pipeline of talent that will continuously fill their leadership needs-needs they may not even yet realize. The Leadership Pipeline delivers a proven framework for priming future leaders by planning for their development, coaching them, and measuring the results of those efforts. Moreover, the book presents a combination leadership-development/succession-planning program that ensures a steady line-up of leaders for every critical position within the company. It’s an approach that bolsters the retention of intellectual capital as it eliminates the need to go outside for expensive “stars,” who will probably jump ship before they reach their full potential anyway.

This edition tackles the issue of self-deception and provides methodologies to help people overcome it.

This transformational tool offers leaders a critical resource for better understanding their organizations and themselves, honing their skills to become accomplished long-range planners and strategic thinkers. By working through the Participant Workbook, leaders will gain the insight needed to plan for results, learn from customers and clients, and ascertain how to achieve extraordinary levels of performance. The Participant Workbook draws on Peter F. Drucker’s The Five Most Important Questions and is grounded in his management philosophies that address the critical aspects that make organizations viable and valuable entities. When leaders answer these questions thoughtfully and address them with purpose, these questions take one down a path to organizational transformation and enlightenment. By leveraging these essential questions, the Participant Workbook challenges leaders to take a close look at the very heart of their organization and what drives it, giving them a means to assess: how to be and how to develop quality, character, mind-set, values, and courage. Drucker’s The Five Most Important Questions lead to spirited discussions and action, inspiring positive change and renewed focus. Designed for today’s busy professionals, this concise, clear, and accessible workbook for social sector, nonprofit, and socially minded business and government leaders can be used as preparation for a workshop, organizational self-assessment, or as a stand-alone leadership development tool for individuals looking to develop themselves and their organizations. Praise for the Participant Workbook Self-Assessment Tool “Time and again Drucker’s The Five Most Important Questions have proven to be the most effective way for nonprofit organizations to conduct self-assessment and develop plans that will help them achieve real and lasting results.” —Cathy Brown, founder and CEO, Rainbow Days, Inc., and 2001 Frances Hesselbein Community Innovation Fellow “The Five Most Important Questions Self-Assessment Tool is a gift to the social leadership sector from the late management guru, Peter Drucker, and the Leader to Leader Institute. It makes incredible sense, it is easy to use, and lays the foundation for strategic planning.” —Irv Katz, president and CEO, National Human Services Assembly “A must-read for social entrepreneurs who are seeking to dramatically grow their organization’s impact without losing sight of the heart of their mission.” —Iris Y. Chen, president and CEO, “I Have A Dream” Foundation “High-performing organizations and individuals know that self-assessment through Drucker’s The Five Most Important Questions is the starting point for defining today and making tomorrow.” —Lee H. Igel, assistant professor, New York University, and president, Peter F. Drucker Society of New York City “This nuts-and-bolts guide has become my compass for urging leaders and managers to ask the right questions, to look beyond what they thought they knew, and to focus on being relevant tomorrow rather than resting on yesterday’s achievements.” —Lieutenant Commander Carla J. Grantham [U.S. Coast Guard, Retired], Congressional Liaison for Diversity Recruitment and Talent Management, U.S. Coast Guard

Since its inception, higher education in the U.S. has claimed to develop leaders. This bold claim appears in college mission statements and mottos, and it is reinforced in recruiting materials and ad campaigns. But is this claim justified? Leadership Reckoning takes to task American colleges and universities for their haphazard, incoherent, evidence-free approaches to developing students as leaders and offers a principle-driven, outcome-oriented blueprint for how effective leader development can occur. Higher education has both the opportunity and the responsibility to take leader development seriously and create the leaders we need. It’s high time that happens, and Leadership Reckoning points the way. “Take it from me, as someone who has worked in both government and business: leadership matters! In the face of global challenges like the climate crisis and the Covid-19 pandemic, the need for good leaders in every part of society has never been greater. In Leadership Reckoning, the Doerr Institute for New Leaders pioneers a data-driven approach to make the development of moral leadership a core function of college education. This book is a must read for the leaders of today and tomorrow.” -Al Gore, Former Vice President of the United States “This book is a gem of a resource for institutions of higher education considering their role and approach in preparing the rising generation to exert the leadership our world needs. It is hard to imagine a more important question for revitalizing our colleges and universities and, most importantly, for getting on the path to realizing our collective aspirations for a just, sustainable, and peaceful world.” -Wendy Kopp, CEO and Co-founder of Teach for All “Our students will impact the world in far greater proportion than their numbers. Higher Education needs to fulfill its currently broken promise to students and society: to intentionally and genuinely prepare them to lead in a complex and hyper-connected world. This book makes a compelling case for leadership being central to university mission and more importantly, delivering on that mission.” -Cynthia Cherrey Ph.D., President & CEO, International Leadership Association “Higher education institutions have an urgent obligation to develop real-world leadership skills in students, and the authors provide innovative, practical ways to accomplish that mission. This groundbreaking book is a must-read for every university administrator and board member.” -John R. Ryan, President & CEO, Center for Creative Leadership, Former Chancellor, State University of New York “Imagine every student at your institution having the opportunity to formally participate in developing their leadership skills. Imagine that those who participate come to see themselves as better leaders, perform more effectively as leaders, and do better in school than those who don’t. Imagine no more. This is happening right now, and authors Tom Kolditz, Libby Gill, and Ryan Brown show you where and how in Leadership Reckoning. Kolditz, Gill, and Brown begin with an insightful critique of the current state of affairs, and then they spend equal time documenting an evidence-based approach that creatively and effectively responds to unmet needs.” -Jim Kouzes, coauthor of the bestselling and award-winning, The Leadership Challenge, and former Dean’s Executive Fellow of Leadership, Leaveny School of Business, Santa Clara University

How do you measure managers and leaders? How do you assess their development needs? Leadership and Management Development covers these and other key topics that form the requirements for the CIPD Level 7 Advanced module of the same name. Retitled and revised to focus on leadership as well as management, the book includes multiple perspectives from those who have either experienced or provided leadership and management development alongside analysis and critique to help paint a full picture of the subject. Students will learn to analyse the concepts of leadership and management, identify leadership and management development needs and formulate and implement strategies and interventions. This fully updated 5th edition of Leadership and Management Development features increased coverage of diversity, ecology, ethics and SMEs. At least two case studies per chapter support academic and critical context, and the book takes a more international perspective by considering global leaders and presenting international examples. It is ideal for students studying leadership and management development as part of a CIPD qualification or as part of a general business or HR degree. Online supporting resources include an instructor’s manual and lecture slides.

Want Extraordinary? Get Relationships.The stakes have never been higher. Complex problems demanding innovative solutions require the collaboration of the best minds. Yet, too often trust is low, and people are disengaged, putting teams into a spiral of mediocrity or worse. Then there are the stellar exceptions: teams that consistently deliver exceptional performance. The critical question isn’t why, or what...But “how”? After nearly 30 years in VP, GM, and CEO roles, Dr. Job Hurley spent five years walking in the shoes of today’s team leaders while earning his doctorate in leadership. The answer became clear as he experienced what was and wasn’t working on the front lines, and combined his research with insights from the best minds in the field of team science: People want and need healthy relationships at work to do their best and be their best. As a leader, you must be relentless in closing the gaps that erode strong, trusting relationships. In Team Relationship Management, you’ll learn the “how” of developing and sustaining the strong, trusting relationships that people want and need at work to do their best and be their best; along with a practical, field-proven approach, and three specific actions to master the art of crafting extraordinary teams. “A masterpiece in the making in so many respects, as writings on the topic of teams and team management to date has, for the most part, been a regurgitation of the same conventional thinking and time-worn rehashing of the same theories. You’ve got a fresh (i.e. disruptive) approach and one that’s sorely needed.” -Dennis J. Pitocco, Publisher & Editor-in-Chief, BIZCATALYST 360.COM, an award-winning global media digest
