has proven itself to be the dominant force in this development, simultaneously driving a number of these changes and challenging television ' s existing institutional structures. This comprehensive study explores the pre-history of Netflix, the role of binge-watching in its organisation and marketing, and Netflix ' s position as a transnational broadcaster. It also examines different concepts of control and the role these play in the history of ancillary technologies, from the remote control to binge-watching as Netflix ' s iteration of giving control to the viewers. By focusing on Netflix ' s relationship with the linear television schedule, its negotiations of quality and marketing, as well as the way Netflix integrates into national media systems, Netflix and the Re-invention of Television illuminates the importance of Netflix ' s role within the processes of TV IV.
