Butterfly in the projects is a loosely translated version of the story Un papillon dans la cit written by Gisle Pineau. It tells the story of a little girl who migrates from her native Guadeloupe, to live in France with her mother and her new family. The story explores her experiences and her new life and takes readers on a journey centred on life in France through the eyes of a child.

"Quand Félicie apprend qu'elle va retrouver sa mère en France, elle comprend vite qu'il va falloir laisser seule sa grand-mère, Man Ya, qui l'a élevé& Quand, dans une cité de la banlieue parisienne, elle fait la connaissance de sa mère, de Papa Jo et de son nouveau petit frère, elle supporte un peu mieux sa nouvelle vie. Quand elle se lie d'amitié avec un camarade de classe venu, lui aussi, d'ailleurs, elle ne rêve que d'une chose : luire faire connaître son île lointain& Un roman plein de tendresse, d'humour et se sensibilité qui enchantera aussi bien les jeunes que leurs aînés."--Back cover.

The story of one woman's tragic life, including the death of her sister, her frantic sexual conquests in an attempt to quell her loneliness, and how she finally finds love, and the answers she has been seeking.

Kuessipan is an extraordinary, meditative novel about life among the Native Innu people of northeast Quebec. With the grace and perfect pitch, author Naomi Fontaine (herself an Innu) conjures up a world that reads like no other, and a community—of nomadic hunters and fishers, of mothers and children—who endure a harsh and sometimes cruel reality with quiet dignity.

The subtitle is confused with the ridiculous in this savage commentary on the human condition, a staple of every theatre classroom and 20th century drama. A small town is besieged by one roaring citizen who becomes a rhinoceros and proceeds to trample on the social order. As more citizens are transformed into rhinoceroses, the trampling becomes overwhelming, and more and more citizens become rhinoceroses. One sane man, Berenger, remains, unable to change his form and identity.

Set in Guadeloupe, this novel traces the rise an fall of man under the mocking eye of the spirits who roam the land, drifting between light and darkness, between happiness and misery, between love and death.

"...a daunting triumph of will pushing its way through imposing roadblocks to a magical country, an absurdist nirvana of humor, pathos, and loss."--Time magazine
A Void is a metaphysical whodunit, a story chock-full of plots and subplots, of trails in pursuit of trails, all of which afford Perec occasion to display his virtuosity as a verbal magician. It is also an outrageous verbal stunt: a 300-page novel that never once employs the letter E. The year is 1968, and as France is torn apart by social and political anarchy, the noted eccentric and insomniac Anton Vowl goes missing. Ransacking his Paris flat, his best friends scour his diary for clues to his whereabouts. At first glance these pages reveal nothing but Vowl's penchant for word games, especially for "lipograms," compositions in which the use of a particular letter is suppressed. But as the friends work out Vowl's verbal puzzles, and as they investigate various leads discovered among the entries, they too disappear, one by one by one, and under the most mysterious circumstances . . .
